

Chatham County

Local Emergency Planning Committee

“The Mission of the Chatham County Local Emergency Planning Committee is to protect and serve all the citizens of the County by promoting hazardous materials safety in all segments of the community. This includes providing an advisory, educational and technical resource for the development and implementation of hazardous safety programs, both locally and County-wide.”

The Chatham County LEPC invites You to GET INVOLVED!

Your local L.E.P.C. engages in the following activities:

- Conduct regular meetings to address all pertinent issues.
- Develop and maintain an inventory of known hazardous materials in Chatham County
- Develop and update a hazard / risk analysis
- Develop and periodically update emergency response procedures for off-site emergency response personnel
- Review, process and respond to requests from the public for pertinent information
- Review, maintain and process all appropriate reports and records, as required by law
- Develop and periodically update emergency warning procedures and evacuation plans
- Coordinate training programs on hazardous materials safety and emergency response procedures
- Coordinate emergency response exercises
- Provide expertise, and assistance to industries and businesses upon request

For more information on joining the LEPC please call
(912) 201-4500 or visit www.lepc.com

